

Being Visible All Year

Through using a mix of different approaches as much as possible (e.g. social media, up-to-date websites, letters to the editor and/or radio or local TV appearances) Leagues become more visible.

By having a consistent presence in the public eye, Leagues are able to reinforce the value of membership in the organization and debunk the myth that we are an elections-time only organization.

Remember, it often takes 7 – 8 times for a message to sink in and for someone to take action, such as joining the League. Holding public events, gaining media coverage for them, and working with allied groups are proven ways for Leagues to communicate their membership message. Also, the public wants to access information the League provides on issues, candidates, and other things because they know we provide factual information (rather than “spin”). If we are not visible, they can’t get that valuable information they seek from us and, of course, they won’t know where or how to join us either.

Leagues know their own communities best and most Leagues are likely to have a full calendar of events planned. However, if there are “holes” in the League’s calendar, Leagues are encouraged to use the following information to fill in their calendars or to build upon what is already planned.

Doing Consistent Outreach Activities Year Round:

- Ensures that Leagues are consistently present in the community throughout the year
- Debunks the myth that we are an elections-time only organization
- Establishes a sustainable and successful calendar of activities that supports growth
- Provides opportunities for Leagues to introduce the organization to new audiences
- Provides platforms for Leagues to explain and reinforce the value of being a member of LWV
- Offers chances to extend invitations to individuals to join

Calendar of Media Hooks

Below is a list of potential media hooks adapted from the LWV national calendar available on www.lwv.org. These are nationally recognized dates and anniversaries that offer local Leagues opportunities to be visible in the community. Very simply, they are an excuse to engage local media to help build stronger relationships.

LWVUS uses these same milestones to issue statements to the media, and often a template for local Leagues to customize is also available. These templates, which are updated annually, are distributed via the weekly Leaders’ Update and posted on www.lwv.org.

Marking these anniversaries or milestones – by issuing a media statement or in some other way – helps to ensure that the League is in the public’s eye consistently.
